

Environmental Advisors

Marc Ian Barasch: greenworld3@gmail.com

Marc Ian Barasch is the founder of the Green World Campaign (www.greenworld.org). This "collaboratory of global citizens" plants trees on degraded land on three continents, helping restore the ecology and economy of some of the world's poorest places. Marc is the author of several bestsellers, including The Compassionate Life, Healing Dreams (hailed by the Washington Post as "a trailblazing contribution to dream research"), and Remarkable Recovery, a landmark study of spontaneous remission

Dr. Robert Bell: rbell@brooklyn.cuny.edu

Dr. Robert Bell is a Professor of Management and Chair of the Economics Department at Brooklyn College, City University of New York. He is the author of Beursbedrog (The Stock Market Sting), Les Peches Capitaux de la Haute Technologie (The Capital Sins of High Technology), Impure Science, and, most recently, The Green Bubble.

Pamela Sue Bergdall: pbergdall@yahoo.com

Pamela Sue Bergdall has forty years experience on three continents in facilitating organisational and human development with individuals, public agencies, private businesses, non-governmental organisations, religious organisations and local communities. Currently she is a private Consultant working to promote sustainability in all things.

Bill Blakemore: bill.blakemore@abc.com

Mr. Bill Blakemore has spearheaded ABC's coverage of global warming, traveling everywhere from the tropics to Polar Regions to report on the impacts and dangers of climate change, as well as possible solutions for it. He began focusing on global warming even as he was finishing his 27-year coverage of the entire papacy of Pope John Paul II.

Helen Bnads: helen.bnads@gld.link-up.org.au

Helen Bnads is an Aboriginal woman from the Bindal tribal group in Queensland, Australia. She has direct Aboriginal ancestral links with the Cherbourg Aboriginal community. Helen is currently the Manager of the Counseling Services of Link-Up (Qld).

Juanita Castaño: castano@un.org

Mrs. Juanita Castaño is the Director of the New York Office of the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP). She has previously served as the Deputy Permanent Representative for the Parliament Mission of Colombia to the UN, as head of the Regional Office for South America at the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN), and as special advisor for the IUCN's preparations for the 2002 World Summit on Sustainable Development.

Dr. Graciela Chichilnisky: doreen.do@globalthermostat.com

Dr. Graciela Chichilnisky is a Professor of Economics and Mathematical Statistics at Columbia University, Director of Columbia Consortium for Risk Management (CCRM), the Sir Louis Matheson Distinguished Professor at Monash University, Distinguished Visiting Professor at Nankai University and at Beijing Normal University, and the Founder and Managing Director of Global Thermostat, LLC.

Father John Chryssavgis: jchryssavg@aol.com

After founding St. Andrew's Theological College in Sydney (1985), serving as Professor of Theology at Holy Cross School of Theology in Boston, directing the Religious Studies Program at Hellenic College, and establishing the Environment Office at Hellenic College, Father John Chryssavgis currently serves as theological advisor to the Ecumenical Patriarch on environmental issues.

Dr. Meijun Fan: meijun01@hotmail.com

Dr. Meijun Fan is the co-director of China Project at Center for Process Studies, the editor in chief of Cultural Communication, and the program director of The Institute for Postmodern Development of China. She was a professor at Beijing Normal University and taught classes in the field of Aesthetics, especially in Chinese aesthetics and Aesthetic Education before she came to Claremont, California. Her current work is looking for a third way for Chinese people to rethink about modernization, which she calls the Constructive Postmodern way or the ecological way.

Rev. Dr. Kurt Johnson: kurtjohnsonisd@yahoo.com

A Christian monastic for 14 years, Rev. Dr. Kurt Johnson then became a professional scientist in evolutionary biology for 20 years. In 2002 he formed, with Catholic monk Bro. Wayne Teasdale, InterSpiritual Dialogue, a network for contemplative sharing across religious traditions. Rev. Johnson then joined OneSpirit Learning Alliance and Interfaith Seminary, where he teaches world religions and Integral Spirituality. Most recently, Dr. Johnson has been a co-founder of the International Contemplative Alliance and the Community of The Mystic Heart.

William Waterway Marks: williamwaterway@aol.com

William Waterway Marks is an award-winning water author, poet, publisher, and Native American flute artist, who has been researching water for 40 years. His water research has been featured in CNN; MSNBC; MVTU; CBS; NBC; ABC; NPR; UPI; AP; New York Times; the Water Encyclopedia; Alternet; Care2.com; MaximsNews; National Geographic, and other media. He is the former owner/director of a state-certified water testing laboratory; and founder of Vineyard Environmental Research, Inst.

Dan Miner: dminer@licbdc.org

Dan Miner serves as Senior Vice President of the Long Island City Business Development Corporation, and coauthored its Going Green Guide for Business. Mr. Miner also authored the 2008 report on Sustainable Energy Independence for NYC, which called for integrating preparation for higher fuel prices and energy volatility into PlaNYC. PlaNYC is a design for the sustainability of New York City, initiated by Mayor Michael Bloomberg's office and outlines Mayor Bloomberg's vision for New York City over the next twenty-five years. Dan Miner is also involved with a variety of urban sustainability volunteer projects.

Brian A. Rosborough: barconcord@aol.com

Brian A. Rosborough, Founding Chairman and former CEO of Earthwatch Institute, has been a pioneer in the environmental field. Since its founding in 1971, Earthwatch has supported over 3000 scientific expeditions in 120 countries to investigate and monitor environmental change. Mr. Rosborough now serves on civic and educational boards in fields of interest. Recently, he advised or designed projects for Ossabaw Island Foundation, Deerfield Academy, Tulane University, the Rocky Mountain Institute, Cape Cod National Seashore, International Development Enterprises, Digital Nations, the UN ICT Task Force, and MIT Media Lab.

Cynthia Sampson: cysampson@aol.com

After working for 13 years in environmentalism and environmental dispute resolution, Ms. Sampson then segued into a 21-year career in international conflict resolution. She worked in program development and fundraising with several leading interfaith organizations and as an author and coeditor of three books. In 2005, Ms. Sampson decided to integrate the various strands of her career, and she is now a freelance editor and writer focusing on environmental peacemaking, religion, and ecology.

Jim Sniffen: sniffenj@un.org

Mr. Jim Sniffen is a Program Officer with the New York Office of the UN Environment Programme (UNEP), handling communications, outreach and administrative matters, among others. He joined the UN in New York in 1980, serving initially with its Press Section. He transferred to UNEP headquarters in Nairobi in 1991 as its Media Officer, before joining its NY Office in 1996. With UNEP he has served as spokesman for several international conferences on subjects ranging from biodiversity conservation to ozone layer protection. He has also served with the UN Mission for Namibia's Independence in 1989.

Tim Tobin: tim.toben@gmail.com

Mr. Tim Toben is Chair of the NC Energy Policy Council and a principal in green energy and green building ventures in North Carolina, including Greenbridge Developments, LLC. He serves on the NC Legislative Commission on Global Climate Change and is Chairman of the Board of Visitors at the UNC-CH Institute for the Environment. Mr. Toben and his wife Megan own and manage an educational farm in Western Orange County, NC that operates on a hybrid solar and wind renewable energy system. They grow organic vegetables and make biodiesel from waste vegetable grease.

Sensei Bonnie Myotai Treace: myotai@mac.com

Sensei Treace is the founder of Hermitage Heart and Bodies of Water Zen. She teaches at Gristmill Hermitage in Garrison, New York. A student of Zen for over thirty years, she is the first Dharma heir of John Daido Looi Roshi and former Abbess of the Zen Center of New York City and Vice-Abbess of Zen Mountain Monastery.

Vernon Visick: vmvisick@gmail.com

Mr. Vernon Visick is the Executive Director of New College-Madison. Vern is a former campus minister, having served on the staff of Madison Campus Ministry (MCM) for twenty-three years, and a fellow of the Au Sable Institute for Environmental Studies. He holds a Ph.D. in Ethics and Society from the University of Chicago and wrote his thesis on "Paul Tillich and the University". He is also an ordained minister in the United Methodist Church.

Robertson Work - robertsonwork@innovativeleader.org

Robertson Work is Director of Innovative Leadership Services and Adjunct Professor of Innovative Leadership for Sustainable Development at NYU Wagner Graduate School of Public Service. Previously for 16 years he was the UNDP Principal Policy Advisor for Decentralization, Local Governance and Urban Development with an emphasis on improving the urban environment in slums and squatter settlements worldwide.